

The Center for Effective Organization's STRATEGIC ORGANIZATION DESIGN PROGRAM IS COMING TO EUROPE !

MARCH 28-31, 2017

HOSTED AT UNILEVER IN SURREY, LONDON (UK)

CEO Faculty: Sue Mohrman and Chris Worley; Guest Speaker: Becky Spears (Oracle)

Organization Design ...

has been a focus of research and teaching at the Center for Effective Organization (CEO) for the past 30 years. Our work has consisted of numerous studies that have explored, defined, and assessed new organizational forms and corporate structures that have emerged over decades that marked the transition from the industrial era to today's knowledge-based, technologically enabled, diverse, and rapidly changing global economy. With Jay Galbraith's Star Model as a core framework, CEO researchers have contributed some of the foundational research on: high performance systems; team-based organizations and other lateral designs, collaboration; self-regulating and planned networks; inter-organizational designs, organizing for knowledge leadership; customer focused designs; design for sustainable effectiveness; global designs; and, most recently, designs for agility and sustainability.

This workshop will introduce participants to the following topics:

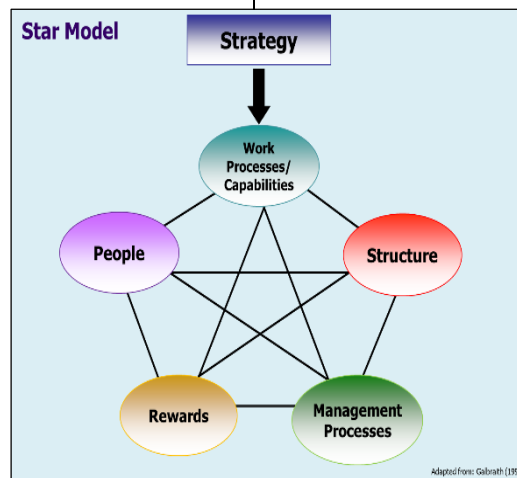

- Strategy to Design
- Process and Tools for Designing Around the Star
- Designing the Lateral Organization
- Designing Management Systems
- Designing People and Reward Systems to Support Strategy and Design
- Organizing Around the Customer
- Designing Enabling Functions
- Designing for Innovation and Agility

Who should attend?

This program is designed for individuals and teams interested in gaining a depth of knowledge and a variety of innovative tools and processes for organizational design. The program is appropriate for HR and Strategy professionals, internal and external consultants, line managers, and others involved with strategic design and implementation. It is recommended that participants have some background in or understanding of organizational design issues.

Key Benefits:

- Learn core frameworks, principles, models, tools and examples of organization design to develop a deeper understanding of this topic.
- Processes and tools to carry out strategy-driven design, including customer focused organization and organizational approaches to facilitate innovation and configurability around changing market demands and opportunities.
- Network opportunities with others facing similar design issues.
